The scheme is founded on the sound policy of rehabilitation of property in med of repairs and of people in need of work, through the ordinant channels of credit and industry, and to that extent is worthy of support, channels of credit and industry, and to that extent is worthy of support, channels of credit and industry, and to that extent is worthy of support, channels of credit and industry, and to that extent is worthy of support, channels of credit and industry, and to that extent is worthy of support, channels of credit and industry, and to that extent is worthy of support, channels of credit in support of the control of the tees in Alberta and Manitoba are meeting with the same discouraging response.

The plan is an admirable one where the borrowers are confined to salaried men in permanent employment in cities in the west and in Eastern Canada and possibly many farmers in Onfario and Quebec who are able to cate to large local markets by the sale of produce the year round or at least the greater part of the year, but in the west where an annual cash crop provides the major income and where domestic markets are restricted in number, accessibility and capacity, the plan is not a feasibility for the farmer as a borrower under the terms imposed.

There is great need for a building rehabilitation program for the western farms. During the past six or seven years many farm buildings have perforce been allowed to deteriorate even to the danger point, and this is also true of a great deal of farm machinery and squipment. The latter, however, constitute the tools of the farmer's trade and it is a reasonable assumption that as soon as he is able to acquire more money than will assume his family a living, either from the sale of produce or by proceeds of a loan, the farmer will devote that surplus towards the rehabilitation or replacement of equipment before it is spent in renewal of buildings, just so long as the latter will stand up.

One of the fnost startling was described by an architectural engineer-speaking recently before some of the nation's leading architects and construction experts. This was the fast-developing use of structural glass. Already there is an increasing demand for it for use in kitchens and bathrooms in homes, for fireplace facing and exterior facing on new buildings, and in modernization work. But this engineer predicted practical skyscrapers whose-exteriors would be entirely of glass.

Father J. Dapau went, prospecting and struck it rich.

The 65-year-old prospecting pricat arrived at Big Sandy Lake, 826 miles northeast of Winnipeg, four years ago, At his request, a sawmill was sent to his mission, in the Episcopai district of Kenora. He was expected to pay for it as soon as possible. But the Indians in that hash country are poor. Church collections were stime. So Father, Dapau studied geology, and went out, to look for gold. He found it, not far from his newly, built church. For the six claims he staked, Father Dapau received $250 in cash as an option and was promised $50,000 and $100,000 shares in the company soon to be formed to develop the property. The money and shares were turned over to the church.

Guard against spoiled dough!

BAKE WITH ROYAL always full strength

Every cake of Royal is sealed in an airtight wrapper free from contamination

THERE'S one infallible rule in bread-baking — your yeast must be full strength. Weak yeast can cause spoiled dough, soggy grayish texture, an unpleasant "off-taste".

"off-taste".

That's why it's important to insist on yeast that is protected against loss of strength—every cake sealed in an air-tight wrapper. Royal is the only dry yeast that has this special protection.

It stays freith full strength and free from impurities.

For fifty years, Royal has stood for dependa bility. Today 7 out of 8 Canadian thousewives demand Royal when they bake with a dry yeast. They know it is reliable.

Reveals Startling Theory

Test Shows Serene Cook Can Make Good Blacuits
The United States Bureau of Home Economics has dished out the startling theory that strong-arm tactes make tough biscuits. This means the cook can't manhandle the dough and expect a batch of tender bread for dinner.

The ladies of the human work.

The ladies of the bureau won't be quoted, but they don't deny they may hit on the answer to one of history's kitchen mysteries—why the same cook never makes the same kind of biscuits twice.

If getting a strangle hold on the dough affects the biscuits-to-be. It biscuits twice.

If getting a strangle hold on the dough affects the biscuits-to-be. It doesn't take a government agency to point out the housewife's temper controls the whole business.

One who sweeps serenely into the kitchen at peace with the worldsay, over the prospects of a new spring bonnet—naturally is going to be gentle with her dough. By the same logic, the woman who-storms up to the stove in a peeve is apt to loose her wrath on the defenseless mass of flour.

The bureau conducted tests all over the place—but not with happy and angry cooks. Dough which received 15 to 18 gentle strokes gave tall light, flaky tender biscuits. Dough which received more than, 18 strokes turned out close-grained, tough flat affairs.

The chemical explanation is that getting rough with the dough causes it to lose its elasticity. When it's time for the biscuit to rise, it stages a ait-down satiske.

Little Helps For This Week

There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man, but God is fathful who will not suffer you to be tempted above that ye are able, but will with the temptation make a way of escape that ye may be able to bear it. I., Cor. 10: 13-14.

You must believe no load of woe Need bring despairing frown; For while we bear it, we can bear, Past that, we lay it down.

Past that, we lay it down.

Everything that happens either happens in such wise that we are formed by nature to bear it, or not formed to hear it. If then it happens do not compilain. But if it happens that you are not able to bear it, do not compilain. But if it happens that you are not able to bear it, do not compilain, for it will perish after it has consumed you. Remember it has consumed you. Remember turns to bear everything, and it depends on your own opinion to make it endurable and tolerable by think-that it is your duty to bear it patiently.
